

Sundays7pm.com

First quarterly report
January 1, 2026 to March 21, 2026

Hello, this is Mohammed Lodhi Hussain, Editor of Sundays7pm.com.

First, I would like to thank all the visitors to Sundays7pm.com. Your time is valuable and I am glad you take some time to share it with my music.

In the first 3 months ending early for the report the Sundays7pm.com has averaged over 1,000 unique visitors for each month. Driven primarily by our music content division. As of today.

Our average for each of the daily traffic for:

January	= 64 visitors per day
February	= 96 visitors per day
March	= 78 visitors per day

These are not easy numbers to reach for a niche. Yet they also show room for growth.

Our size gives a distinct advantage. Because our audience is the free music type.

Because of my foolishness and inexperience with online music stores. I have wasted time that could be better used on the site.

Now I am started to rewrite my mistakes as lessons.

I started out with zero musical talent. But lots of drive. In the summer of 2010, I bought my first Ibanez left-handed guitar. It was a risky move leaving me with no money left. And psoriasis spreading over 95 per cent of my body.

In college I failed basic music. Like Vivaldi's writs of spring. I never took lessons but kept learning from programs online.

I would go on to suffer many health setbacks and kept going.

Motto: If I can do it. You can too.

In 2015 I started to get a hang of this thing I call a guitar. Then in 2019 I bought my first left-handed electric guitar from Ibanez too.

I would go on and buy a couple more guitars. A Yamaha nylon classical guitar. Which I gave away last December as a gift. And I bought (2) ryman.com kids guitars 2025 as a goal to give away as many guitars in my lifetime.

I would also get a Yamaha Pacifica righthanded guitar. To learn to play right-handed. It is a slow crawl to success.

A couple of years ago I picked up a keyboard. Which has been a fun experiment. I plan to continue my pursuit of music.

I decided to focus on philanthropy as my core philosophy of educating, teaching and learning music from around the world.

A part of this plan will be layered in stages.

Step 1: Keep the audience happy.

Step 2: Add a well thought out music tutorial on Sundays7pm.com.

Step 3: Create resources to encourage others to make music for fun.

I have allowed room to make mistakes and when I do I hope I have the humility and wisdom to embrace and learn from those gems of hidden lessons.

The main point of this report is to create accountability for me and a little knowledge for you.

If you want to follow along my other channels then you can always email me at:

molodhi1234567890@gmail.com

Or Twitter: @Wednesdays7pm

Or linkedin: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/mohammed-lodhi-hussain-5a15aa357/>

Or Instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/aconcertstv/>

Or Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/mohammedlodhi.hussain.9>

If you want to be friends that's always cool. Send me a message.

Thank you for your time,

Sincerely,

Mohammed Lodhi Hussain

Editor, Sundays7pm.com

March 21, 2026