

The Tears of Tomorrow embellished today
Written and Performed by Mohammed Lodhi Hussain

They say that conflict is essential to the survival of us today.
So, our Children of tomorrow will be better off today.

They say that the rules of engagement don't apply because we are exporting democracy someday.

We those real patriots that will charge on that white bronco horse like Valley Forge, General
Washington to win the day.

Those leaders had more medal to charge into the battlefield than draft dodgers today.

They claim they can wipeout a civilization with the press of a button near their stationary.

They don't believe that peace is achievable unless you break the will of your opponent today.

My God soften their hearts and give them wisdom today.

Ooohh, they say we need the Oil to boost our economy.

And then they grocery bills will price drop as they did in history.

With children's hungry mouths to feed and veterans homeless on the street today

Did you honor your commitments and followed the spirit of the law today.

Is there no more moral decency today.

Or have we all gone astray,

I hope that is not ok for you and me. Moral bankruptcy for society is in play.

They say gas prices are soaring for a limited time only

Prices subject to change.

Our people are waiting for a savior to save us from the turmoil today.

But we are only here today.

They say the Stock market is stable so they can sell and run away.

While our cities and counties are suffering from every kind of social decay.

They say that cries of the fallen are not our problem anyway.

Even if it was our children that fought and died that day.

They clip a lapel pin and tokens of gratitude for the service to the nation. To the family that person was their World and losing them will never change the feeling of loss and betrayal under a banner of political expediency and cold calculations of sacrifices they would never send their kids to make.

They say you have constitutional rights except when they want to change.

They say we should shut up and do what they cheerfully.

Ohhh a leader is coming and he not your stereotypical hero on stage.

He or She will lead by example and not be swayed by greed and or money.

They will ride on the backs of eagles and soar to heavens to bring aid.

They will heal our Nation from the Toxicity of the trickster who is diabolical each day.

A revival is springing forth from the great USA across the Globe today.

And Faith and Hope will spread across the Universe today

Our children will not be tarnished in the fog of conflict

For a few people exploiting the levers of power or self-gain

All we can do for our families is Pray.

Please answer our pray God to spare the earth from the anguish of loss.

In the modern barbarian society conflict is more in style like the tomes say.

So, take imitative because the heroes of yesteryear have passed on the torch of providence and freedom as they say.

Let us instead export peace, love and prosperity to the world today.

That goodwill will rebuild a shattered reputation for Heaven's sake.

So, let's all swim in the arctic and cool off today.

Tomorrow the sun will rise and it will be better than today

That is what I wish for me and you always.

Let us negotiate in Good faith and fellowship so we can avoid the mistakes of the other generations. Because they paid the ultimate price and what would our mother's say quibbling over trivialities and one ups Manship today.

Sometimes it is better to be a gracious loser than a bitter winner.

Let us all live to breathe the breath of life peacefully tonight and each and every day.

We can debate facts and figures but what comes from the heart shows clearly to those who know.

Let's talk to each other our kinship with the brothers and sisters that fight for our Nation.

And give them the peace that conflict upends.

Please pray as you choose for children to come back soon and retire the old shoes.

For every generation has there calling and we need to choose whether its melancholy, pop or the blues.

Pick up the phone and have the talk and come back home it's a long walk. Even as the prodigal son came back.

We too must welcome our loved ones and wish your children back home soon.

Whether pro-life or Pro-choice we are all one and the same under the hand of providence

One bad decision must be endured for a lifespan and a generation without the support to survive let alone thrive.

The pains of regret weigh more than patience of prevention

I was waiting for a mentor to show me the way

Then I realized I was already on the way; I just wasn't aware because I cared for all.
